

COVID-19 Resources For Businesses Preparing to Reopen

North Carolina employers are closely following the governor's direction on how and when it is appropriate to reopen for business. But it won't be business as usual for some time, as companies implement measures to protect their workers and the public from spread of the virus. Companies are turning to a number of resources to help manage reopening. The Economic Development Partnership of North Carolina lists some of those resources below, emphasizing that businesses always need to follow protocols set by the governor and local and state health officials.

For general questions, call Business Link North Carolina (BLNC) at 800.228.8443. BLNC staff are available Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. – 4. p.m., to connect your business to the appropriate organization for assistance. All inquiries will receive a confidential response from a business counselor within three business days. "Se Habla Español."

-
- The Governor's Three-Phase Plan. North Carolina is taking a three-phased approach – based on data from testing, tracing and trends and in consultation with members of the business community – to lift restrictions in place to slow the spread of the COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic and save lives. Click here to learn more about restrictions currently in place.
  - N.C. Department of Health and Human Services. Business can find the latest information on COVID-19 in N.C. by visiting the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services website. The site includes links to specialized advice for specific industries including meat and poultry processing and others.
  - State Guidance for Restaurants. The N.C. Department of Health and Human Services has issued interim guidance for restaurants reopening under the governor's phased approach to lifting business restrictions. The guidance will help restaurants reduce the spread of COVID-19 in their communities.

- Restaurant and Lodging Association Guidance. The N.C. Restaurant and Lodging Association has provided this guide on best practices and procedures for restaurants reopening.
- Count on Me NC Initiative. The NC Restaurant and Lodging Association has joined with industry, academic and state partners including Visit NC on the Count On Me NC public health initiative. The campaign provides a free, evidenced-based training program that guides restaurants, hotels, attractions and other businesses on best practices for North Carolina’s reopening. It will also direct consumers to look for certificates and logos indicating that a business has completed the voluntary training. Read press release here.
- Protecting Your Business from COVID-19. This guide from the National Institute of Standards and Technology can help businesses prepare for the impacts of COVID-19 and protect their facility and employees from exposure.
- CDC Posters and Flyers for Your Business. This link provides free downloadable materials you can print and display in your workplace. They were developed by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to support COVID-19 safety recommendations and are available in multiple languages.
- EPA Information on Disinfectants for Use Against COVID-19. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency website provides helpful information that includes a list of disinfectants that meet EPA standards for use against the virus.
- Responding to a COVID-19 Exposure at Your Business. Businesses can download this checklist of what to do if they suspect a COVID-19 exposure has occurred at their facility. The advice is based on CDC recommendations. Businesses should be sure to refer to North Carolina state recommendations as well.
- OSHA Guidance for Preparing Workplaces for COVID-19. The U.S. Department of Labor’s Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) has developed the 35-page “Guidance for Preparing Workplaces for COVID-19,” which can be downloaded here.
- OSHA Record-Keeping Requirements for COVID-19. This link highlights OSHA standards and directives (instructions for compliance officers) that may apply to worker exposure to COVID-19.

- CDC’s “Plan, Prepare, and Respond” Site for Businesses: This CDC website offers many helpful links, including updated guidance to help prevent workplace exposure, a page answering common questions from businesses, and more.
- Operation Open Doors Checklist for Retailers. The National Retail Federation has issued a checklist for reopening, encouraging retailers to work with their legal and financial advisers to adapt recommendations to their specific circumstances.
- NC Retail Merchants Association Website. This website updates regularly to provide industry-specific information for North Carolina retailers managing operations during COVID-19, including webinars, signage, details on requirements vs. recommendations, etc.
- U.S. Food and Drug Administration Food Safety Website. The FDA’s Food Safety and Coronavirus Disease website has a wealth of information regarding food safety for consumers as well as businesses and workers in farming and in food production, processing, and retail settings.
- U.S Department of Agriculture Website. The USDA website has a list of frequently asked questions related to COVID-19, operations of the USDA’s Animal, Plant and Health Inspection Service and more.

State and Federal COVID-Relief Loan and Grant Programs

- NC COVID-19 Rapid Recovery Loans. A consortium of public, private and nonprofit partners has launched a recovery lending program to support entrepreneurs and help stabilize North Carolina’s small business sector in the wake of the pandemic. Click here for more information and to apply.
- NC Job Retention Grants. North Carolina businesses and certain nonprofits that missed out on other COVID-19 relief funds can now apply for a new state program offering up to $250,000 in grants to help companies maintain their workforce. Applications for the job-retention grants are available here on the North Carolina Department of Commerce website. The short window for applying closes Sept. 1, so applicants should move quickly.
- SBA Economic Injury Disaster Loans. The U.S. Small Business Administration offers the Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL) program to all eligible small businesses and nonprofits experiencing economic impacts due to COVID-19. The loans can be used to cover payroll and inventory, pay debt or fund other expenses. The loan’s affordable terms include a 3.75% interest rate for small businesses and 2.75% for non-profit organizations, and an automatic deferment of one year before monthly payments begin. Click here for more information.

- Main Street Lending Program. The Federal Reserve's new Main Street Lending Program offers loans from $250,000 to $300 million – a wide range that may support a broad set of employers. The program launched June 15 and aims to help small and medium-sized businesses affected by the pandemic.
- USDA Rural Business Loans. The USDA is making available loan guarantees to help rural businesses meet their working capital needs during the pandemic. Additionally, agricultural producers ineligible for USDA Farm Service Agency loans may receive funding under the USDA Business & Industry \(B&I\) CARES Act Program. Borrowers should inquire with their lender. Lenders interested in participating should contact their USDA Rural Development state office.